

Information for Authors

The Canadian Journal of Nursing Research is a quarterly journal. Its primary mandate is to publish nursing research that develops basic knowledge for the discipline and examines the application of the knowledge in practice. It also accepts research related to education and history and welcomes methodological, theory and review papers that advance nursing science. Letters or commentaries about published articles are encouraged.

Procedure: Three double-spaced typewritten copies of the manuscript on 8½ x 11" paper are required. Articles may be written in French or English. Authors are requested not to put their name in the body of the text, which will be submitted for blind review. Only unpublished manuscripts are accepted. A written statement assigning copyright of the manuscript to The Canadian Journal of Nursing Research must accompany all submissions to the journal. Manuscripts are sent to: The Editor, The Canadian Journal of Nursing Research, McGill University, 3506 University Street, Montreal, QC H3A 2A7.

Manuscripts

All manuscripts must follow the latest edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. Research articles must follow the APA format for presentation of the literature review, research questions and hypotheses, method, and discussion. All articles must adhere to APA guidelines for references, tables and figures. Do not use footnotes.

Title page: This should include author(s) name, degrees, position, information on financial assistance, acknowledgements, requests for reprints, address, and present affiliation.

Abstract: Research articles must include a summary of 100-150 words containing information on the purpose, design, sample, findings, and implications. Theory and review papers must include a statement of the principal issue(s), the framework for analysis, and summary of the argument.

Text: The text should not exceed 15 double spaced typed pages. References, tables, and figures should follow the text.

References: The references are listed in alphabetical order, double spaced and placed immediately following text. Author names and journal citations must be spelled out in full.

Tables and Figures: Tables and figures should only appear when absolutely necessary. They must be self explanatory and summarize relevant information without duplicating the content of the text. Each table must include a short title, omit abbreviations and be typed on a separate page. Figures must be in camera-ready form.

Review process and publication information: The Canadian Journal of Nursing Research is a peer-reviewed journal. Manuscripts are submitted to two reviewers for blind review. The first author will be notified following the review process which takes 10 weeks to complete.

Electronic copy: Authors must provide satisfactory electronic files of the accepted final version of the manuscript.

University of Toronto Faculty of Nursing

Faculty Positions

Nursing of Acutely Ill Adults and Chronically Ill Older People

The Faculty of Nursing at the University of Toronto seeks two faculty members for tenure-stream positions at the Assistant Professor level. One will bring expertise in the nursing of acutely ill adults; expertise in oncology nursing is particularly sought. The other will have expertise in the care of chronically ill older people. These faculty members will contribute to the undergraduate and graduate (MSc, MN and PhD) programs of the Faculty. They will be expected to develop their research in collaboration with researchers and clinical nurse specialists in clinical agencies with which the Faculty is closely associated. A cross-appointment to an appropriate clinical agency will accompany these positions. Current Faculty research programs focus on nursing related to chronic illness, individuals who have difficulty forming relationships, family caregivers of chronically ill adults and children, normal and high-risk perinatal situations, pain in infants, the quality of nursing worklife, and health promotion across the lifespan.

Qualifications include: a doctoral degree in nursing or a related science, a master's degree in the nursing specialty relevant to the position, interest and expertise in teaching, publications in peer reviewed journals, a strong commitment to research, and an ability to work collaboratively with nurse clinicians, other nurse researchers and researchers from other disciplines.
