

Call for Reviewers / Examinateuses recherchées

The purpose of peer review in the publication of nursing research is to ensure the advancement of nursing knowledge through critical analysis of submitted manuscripts. Through such analysis, constructive criticism is provided to the authors and publication recommendations are made to the editors. The quality of the manuscripts published in the Canadian Journal of Nursing Research is due, in large part, to the input of its reviewers.

Excellent reviewers possess the following attributes: high standards; the ability to identify key issues and defend a position taken on them, to see how a manuscript might add to the existing body of knowledge, and to communicate effectively with authors; a high degree of objectivity; and a willingness to learn from authors. The CJNR is seeking researchers who possess these attributes and who are interested in contributing to the advancement of nursing knowledge in this way.

If you are interested in being considered as a regular reviewer for the CJNR, please contact our office for more information. A reviewer's initiation package is issued to each new reviewer.

Health Resource Planning

March 2002 (vol. 33, no. 4)

Nursing shortages are once again making headlines in the mass media worldwide. Health resource planning attempts to determine the appropriate quantity, mix, and distribution of health personnel in order to meet the needs of the population. Historically, health resource planning approaches have been primarily single-discipline, intermittent, varying in quality, and supply-based in nature. They do not build upon the conceptual and analytic advances that have been made, and they rarely focus on outcomes. For this issue of CJNR, theoretical and research-based manuscripts on health resource planning that demonstrate innovative conceptual or analytic approaches with a focus on outcomes are requested.

Guest Editor: Dr. Linda O'Brien-Pallas

Submission Deadline: July 15, 2001

Coping/Adaptation

June 2002 (vol. 34, no. 1)

Coping and adaptation and their relationship to health remain key foci for nurses and others working in health care or doing health research. The field is ripe for advancement in our thinking. Facile linear models of conceptualization in this arena add little to our understanding or to the usefulness of the knowledge base for practice. We are calling for philosophical, theoretical, and research-based papers related to coping and adaptation in health and health-care situations. CJNR seeks manuscripts that focus on the theoretical or methodological debates, or that report research that tests innovative interventions with individuals, families, and/or caregivers to improve outcomes by enhancing coping resources or by altering the external social situations.

Information for Authors

The Canadian Journal of Nursing Research is a quarterly journal. Its primary mandate is to publish nursing research that develops basic knowledge for the discipline and examines the application of the knowledge in practice. It also accepts research related to education and history and welcomes methodological, theory, and review papers that advance nursing science. Letters or commentaries about published articles are encouraged.

Procedure: Three double-spaced typewritten copies of the manuscript on 8 1/2" x 11" paper are required. Authors are requested not to put their name in the body of the text, which will be submitted for blind review. Only unpublished manuscripts are accepted. A written statement assigning copyright of the manuscript to the Canadian Journal of Nursing Research must accompany all submissions to the Journal. Manuscripts are sent to: The Editor, Canadian Journal of Nursing Research, School of Nursing, McGill University, 3506 University Street, Montreal, QC H3A 2A7. E-mail: jtoti@po-box.mcgill.ca

Manuscripts

All manuscripts must follow the fourth edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. Research articles must follow the APA format for presentation of the literature review, research questions and hypotheses, method, and discussion. All articles must adhere to APA guidelines for references, tables, and figures. Footnotes should not be used.

Title page: This should include author name(s), degrees, positions and affiliations, information on financial assistance, acknowledgements, and contact information.

Abstract: Research articles must include a summary of 100–150 words on the purpose, design, sample, findings, and implications of the research. Theory and review papers must include a statement of the principal issue(s), the framework for analysis, and a summary of the argument.

Text: The text should not exceed 20 double-spaced typed pages including references, tables, and figures (which are placed at the end of the text). Articles must be written in English.

References: The references are listed in alphabetical order, double-spaced, and placed immediately following the text. Author names and journal citations must be spelled out in full.

Tables and figures: Tables and figures should appear only when absolutely necessary. They must be self-explanatory and summarize relevant information without duplicating the content of the text. Each table must include a short title, omit abbreviations, and be typed on a separate page. Figures must be in camera-ready form.

Review process and publication information: The Canadian Journal of Nursing Research is a peer-reviewed journal. Manuscripts are submitted to two reviewers for blind review. The first author will be notified following the review process, which takes approximately 12 weeks to complete.

Electronic copy: Authors must provide satisfactory electronic files of the accepted final version of the manuscript.

Renseignements à l'intention des auteurs

La Revue canadienne de recherche en sciences infirmières est publiée quatre fois par année. Son mandat est de diffuser la recherche en sciences infirmières qui a trait au développement des connaissances dans la discipline et à l'analyse de la mise en pratique de ces connaissances. La revue accepte également des articles de recherche liés à l'éducation, à l'histoire de même que des articles liés à la méthodologie, la théorie et l'analyse critique qui favorisent le développement des sciences infirmières. Nous vous invitons à nous faire parvenir également vos commentaires sur les articles publiés.

Modalités : Les textes doivent être soumis en trois exemplaires, être dactylographiés à double interligne sur des feuilles 216 mm x 279 mm et être adressés à la rédactrice en chef, à la Revue canadienne de recherche en sciences infirmières, Université McGill, École des sciences infirmières, 3506, rue University, Montréal, QC H3A 2A7. Courriel: joti@po-box.mcgill.ca Il est entendu que les articles soumis n'ont pas été simultanément présentés à d'autres revues. Veuillez également inclure, avec la soumission, une déclaration de propriété et de cession de droits d'auteurs. Finalement, afin de garder l'anonymat lors du processus de révision, veuillez ne pas inclure les noms des auteurs dans le texte.

Manuscrits

Résumé : Un résumé d'environ 100 à 150 mots chacun doit précéder le texte. Ce résumé devrait comprendre l'objectif, la méthode, les résultats et les retombées de la recherche. Les manuscrits qui concernent la théorie et les analyses critiques doivent inclure une identification des objectifs principaux, le cadre conceptuel utilisé pour l'analyse des données et un résumé de la discussion.

Texte : La longueur totale d'un manuscrit, incluant les tableaux, les figures et les références, ne doit pas dépasser 20 pages, dactylographiées à double interligne. Les articles doivent être rédigés en anglais.

Références : Les références doivent paraître en ordre alphabétique, à double interligne et faire suite au texte. Les noms des auteurs de même que les citations de revues doivent être écrits au long.

Tableaux et schémas : Les tableaux et schémas doivent paraître seulement si nécessaire. Ils doivent résumer des données pertinentes sans redire le contenu du texte. Chaque tableau doit comprendre un titre, ne pas comprendre d'abréviations et être dactylographié sur une page à part. Vous devez remettre les originaux des schémas dessinés à l'encre de Chine et prêts à être photographiés.

Examen des manuscrits et renseignements relatifs à la publication : Lorsqu'un manuscrit est soumis pour des fins de publication à la Revue canadienne de recherche en sciences infirmières, le comité de rédaction entame le processus de lecture : il envoie à un minimum de deux réviseurs, spécialistes du sujet dont traite le texte, un exemplaire anonyme du manuscrit ainsi que la grille d'évaluation des manuscrits. Sur réception des évaluations des réviseurs, le comité de rédaction décide si le texte peut être publié et en informe l'auteur responsable en lui faisant part des évaluations des réviseurs. Ce processus nécessite habituellement douze semaines. Si la décision est favorable, le comité peut proposer des corrections que l'(les) auteur(s) devra(ont) effectuer avant que le texte ne soit publié.

Copie électronique : Les auteurs doivent remettre un exemplaire de leur article sur disquette, suite à l'acceptation finale de l'article.
